NATURAL TEAK FURNITURE

When it comes to long-lasting strength and enduring style, teak is truly a wood for all seasons. As this golden-brown hardwood is exposed to the elements, it will naturally weather to a classic silver-grey hue.

- Our natural teak is designed to highlight the wood's intrinsic beauty and unique grain.
- Teak is a durable hardwood with a high content of silica and natural oils, so it's extremely resistant to rotting, warping and splitting.
- Teak is naturally water-resistant, allowing it to withstand any weather – from harsh sunlight to rain and snow.
- Natural variations in the wood grain make every piece of teak furniture unique.

FINISHED TEAK FURNITURE

In addition to our natural teak collections, we offer furnishings finished with a matte wash. Unless it's protected from the elements, the color of the finish will fade to the silvery grey patina that's characteristic of untreated teak. Keep your furniture in top condition with these simple suggestions.

- To preserve the beauty of your finished teak furniture, protect pieces with our custom-fit outdoor furniture covers.
- Maintain the finish by applying a clear coat of polyurethane to the wood once or twice per year, depending on the weather in your area.
- Remove any stains on your finished teak furniture by gently sanding the soiled area with 3M Hand Pad.

CARING FOR TEAK

When your teak furniture is new, wood oils may surface to develop what look like water spots and streaks. These are part of the natural maturing process – and simple to remove with a few easy steps.

- Care for your teak with gentle washing.
- Wet the surface of your teak furniture.
- Gently scrub with a soft brush, a mild cleanser and water.
- Rinse well, then let your furniture dry in the sun.

CLEANING TEAK

One of the many great things about our teak furniture is that it's very easy to clean. Teak is an exceptionally dense wood, so stains typically stay on the surface. Here are a few simple suggestions for cleaning your teak.

- For everyday dusting, use a soft, dry cloth.
- For regular cleaning, use a soft, damp cloth and soap and water – or a gentle, natural cleaner.
- Never use cleaners containing detergents, abrasives or harsh chemicals.
- For stubborn stains on teak, use a paste that combines lemon juice or vinegar with salt.
- If traces of stains remain on the furniture, use fine-grained sandpaper. Be sure to wipe in the direction of the natural wood grain.
- To spot-clean fabric cushions, use a gentle cleaner like Simple Green and a soft brush.

TEAK AND THE ELEMENTS

When you leave teak in its natural state, it's virtually maintenance-free. If you like, you can leave your furniture outdoors all year 'round. The rate and degree of teak's weathering will depend on your local climate.

- New teak furniture has a rich, golden-brown color that will weather to a soft, silver-grey patina.
- If you live near the ocean, help protect your teak from the salt-water environment by hosing down the furniture once a week.
- In freezing climates, clean and dry your teak furniture, then store it in a dry, sheltered place like a garage or shed.
- To preserve the natural beauty of your teak furniture, protect pieces with our custom-fit outdoor furniture covers.
